

Fedora 18 to ship January 15

Written by LWN

Thursday, 10 January 2013 07:12 - Last Updated Thursday, 10 January 2013 07:57

---

The Fedora Project has announced that the long-delayed Fedora 18 release has been set for January 15. There is one last decision to make, though: whether they ship the RC3 version (which appears to lack serious issues) or RC4 (which contains one more bug fix that they are a little nervous about).

The Fedora Project has announced that the long-delayed Fedora 18 release has been set for January 15. There is one last decision to make, though: whether they ship the RC3 version (which appears to lack serious issues) or RC4 (which contains one more bug fix that they are a little nervous about)...Read more at LWN