

Ubuntu for Tablets Announced

Written by LWN

Tuesday, 19 February 2013 08:32 - Last Updated Tuesday, 19 February 2013 09:41

Canonical has announced an upcoming version of its distribution for tablets; it seems to have come a long way since we reviewed an early release last November. "Take calls in Skype while you work in a document, make notes on the side while you surf the web, tweet while you...

Canonical has announced an upcoming version of its distribution for tablets; it seems to have come a long way since we reviewed an early release last November. "

ake calls in Skype while you work in a document, make notes on the side while you surf the web, tweet while you watch a movie. Or use apps collaboratively – drag content from one app to another for a super-productive day. We've reinvented the tablet as a bridge between phone and PC.

"

Read more at LWN